

We would like to share the announcement of 2021 ELTS virtual Conference by the English Language Testing Society.

This Conference will take place on October 15th and 16th, 2021 and it is entirely free for anyone interested.

Registration is open through October 11th, 2021.

Registration link : <https://eltsociety.org/2021-virtual-conference/>

ELT Society was launched in the fall of 2019 as an international non-profit association for professionals interested in the field of English language testing for persons whose native language is not English. The theme of the conference is Crosscurrents: Proficiency Testing & Classroom Assessment. The conference will focus on both proficiency testing and classroom assessment, as well as the intersections, commonalities, and differences that characterize these practices. The sessions will include presentations on timely topics such as test designs, formative and summative assessments, and students' evaluations.

The conference will feature two keynote speakers, Dr. Micheline Chaloub-Deville and Dr. Shahrzad Saif. Dr. Micheline Chaloub-Deville is Professor of Educational Research Methodology at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (UNCG) and she will be speaking about Large-Scale Tests And Evolving Constructs.

The second keynote speaker is Dr. Shahrzad Saif, a professor of Applied Linguistics at the Département de langues, linguistique et traduction, Université Laval (Quebec, Canada). The title of her address is the "Test Impact: The Effects Of High Stakes Testing And Classroom Assessment On Learning Outcomes".

RELO Team

U.S. Embassy, Ankara - Turkey